

More Details About Our New Home!

We are very pleased to announce that our new home at 2 Batterson Park Road in Farmington will be officially open for business on January 5, 2015. Designed for patient comfort and convenience, our new location is truly a world-class facility.

Highlights of our new facility

All of the innovative design, engineering and environmental solutions featured in our new location will assist us in achieving better embryo development, improved embryo implantation rates, and higher pregnancy rates by minimizing or eliminating the negative impact of toxic environmental factors along with an increased ability to maintain quality controls. Those facing fertility issues can realistically hope for improved results thanks to LifeAire Systems, one of our many innovative design, engineering and environmental solutions employed at the Center. New data from in vitro fertilization programs using the revolutionary LifeAire System air purification technology demonstrates dramatic increases in clinical pregnancies through in vitro fertilization.

The Center is easily accessible from I-84, Rt. 9 and Farmington Avenue at 2 Batterson Park Road, Farmington. It features 20,000 square feet on two floors and parking for over 100 cars. More information on our new facility can be found at uconnfertility.com.

More about this change

Here are some important details to remember for you and your patients as we finalized our move:

- As of January 5, we will have new email addresses, and our new phone number will be operational (although the old phone number will still work)
- Our new phone number, operational as of January 5, will be 844-HOPEIVF (844-467-3483)
- Our web address remains the same – www.uconnfertility.com – please visit our website for updates
- New referral pads will be coming to you soon for your convenience

Thank you for making us part of your team

We realize that a patient's Ob/Gyn is integral to the infertility process. Your initial screening and prompt referral can have a significant impact on your patient's chance for success. At The Center, we appreciate the opportunity to participate in your patient's infertility treatment and are committed to close communication and feedback with all referring providers. Our goal is to deliver the high quality medical care you and your patients expect and to return your patients to you with a healthy pregnancy.

Should you have any questions about our successes, locations, clinical team or the 2015 move to our new facility, please contact our Medical Director, Dr. John Nulsen, or our Chief Operating Office, Paul Verrastro, at 844-HOPEIVF (844.467.3483).
